five hundred twenty five thousand six hundred minutes
five hundred twenty five thousand moments so clear
five hundred twenty five thousand six hundred minutes

how do you measure? measure a year
in homerooms,
in passes,
in bus rides,
in moments together,
in hallways, in classes, in laughter, in strife
five hundred twenty five thousand six hundred minutes

how do you measure a year in a life?

how about love?
how about love?
how about love?
measure in love
FOND FAREWELLS

MRS. LANG

Mrs. Lang taught for 14 years at CMS. She has taught at both Peabody and Sanborn. In addition to teaching 6th grade Social Studies, Mrs. Lang taught 6th grade English and Special Education. She was an amazing teacher who we will all remember fondly.

MADAME NEUMAN

Madame Neuman has been with us at CMS for 22 years. She has taught French, Math, Special Education, 6th and 7th grade Science, and introductory Spanish. This past year she taught 8th grade French at both buildings and was the Department Chair for Foreign Languages. She has done so much for our school. We won’t forget you.

Captain Excuse

This week... Homework Excuses!

- Paper is too rectangular, so I wrote it in the air.
- I broke my finger while picking my nose.
- My dog ate it... My goldfish ate it... Fine, I ate it!!!!
- I sent it to you telepathically but your spirit was not open to receive it.
- I was stuck in a blizzard and I burned it for warmth.
- I'm on a paper diet and it's all I had.
- Smart people you know... and I did it together but they have all the work.
- My parents didn't tell me to do it.
- Is it too late to tell you I can't read? (Big eyelashes and look helpless, works like a charm.)
- It's so beautiful, I didn't want to hurt it.
- My sister wrote a love note on the back of it and it's not appropriate for your eyes.
- Oh, that was homework? I used it to start the campfire last night... sorry.
- Student: I was busy walking my goat and... well, you know how goats are.
- Teacher: No, not really.
- Student: .......... no comment.
- I spilled toxic waste on it, and my parents wouldn't let me touch it. I don't know why, they're so weird. So, you want to pick it up after school?
- I was busy cow tipping with the Carlisle kids.
WOULD YOU RATHER . . . ?

Would you rather not be able to speak, or to not be able to hear?

Would you rather eat just string cheese for a year, or have to wear a yellow jumpsuit every day for a year?

Would you rather be a historian or a taxidermist when you grow up?

If you had to be a vegetable, would you rather be a carrot or corn?

Would you rather have a headache or a stomach ache for a whole week?

Would you rather own a cat that wouldn’t stop clawing the furniture, or a dog that wouldn’t stop barking?

Would you rather not be able to see the color red, or not be able to see the color blue?

Would you rather live in a place where it was never light, or where it was never dark?

Would you rather have no hands, or no feet?

Would you rather never be able to hear music, or always hear music?

Would you rather have everything, or know everything?

Thoughts during class

Need dictionary to comprehend

What time is lunch?

Ogh, he has a girlfriend, stop flirting.

Are you kidding me?

It's Monday? I thought it was Thursday!

Oh my gosh! Can't concentrate! Spaghetti!

Stripes! MUST LOOK AT THEM!

How many times do girls do their hair?

Is there a dance this weekend?

What time is this class over?

HUH?

Hungry, must eat

What does "masticate" mean anyways?
Reasons to look out the window:

- First time it snows
- Psychotic turkeys
- The seniors are driving by

I'm trying to figure out quantum physics and looking at the trees helps me concentrate...

Wow!! After fifteen years as advisor, CMS finally has a full-color yearbook. Thanks to all of the members of the Yearbook Committee for their extremely hard work in the production of this book. Special thanks to our photographers, Katherine Barnes, Nitya Rajgopal, Anna Stabler, Hannah Whitehead, Elise Goodhue; and Lara Gechtian, Mahalia McGill and Maddie Clute did an outstanding job as Editors this year. They also designed the front and back covers. Enjoy the book!!

Dedication

Mrs. Moran

Her experience with her own four children has shown Mrs. Moran how to handle any situation, from confused parents to very late students. She keeps the teachers and Mr. Unobskey on track with her pleasant demeanor. Whenever a bus pass is needed or a mint desired, Mrs. Moran will gladly provide you with either. She not only helps the students and teachers, but also makes sure that everything is in order; the announcements are read, and the students are dismissed.

Mrs. Moran is more than a secretary; she is a friend, a kind face, a helping hand, and a pass writing machine. She is truly the glue holding everything together, and without her, the experience at CMS just wouldn't be the same. "Concord Middle School, Vanessa Moran..." is something that we will all enjoy hearing for many years to come. Thank you for all that you do for the Concord Middle School. It is our privilege to dedicate this yearbook to her.

Mr. Baldrachi

While growing up, Mr. Baldrachi had two very strong interests — history and music. His love of history ultimately led him to his teaching career, and his love of music, especially his drumming, continues to be an important part of his life. Both passions — teaching and music — allow him to make very special connections with the young people who are his students.

Within the profession of education, Mr. Baldrachi quickly found his niche in the area of Special Education. Mr. Baldrachi plays an extremely important role because he is an educator, an advocate, a cheerleader, a liaison person, a motivator, and an "ear" for his students. His students are confident that with his help they can confront their weaknesses, harness their talents and intelligence, and do well in school.

Mr. Baldrachi’s Learning Center is like a sanctuary, not only to students on IEPs, but also to anyone who drops by for help. He makes it feel safe to say, "I don't get this and I need help." He is energetic and caring, humorous, a skilled educator, and a positive role model and mentor. Mr. Baldrachi has what can only be described as an "awesome" influence on students at CMS, and so it is appropriate to dedicate this yearbook to him.
